Robert Alinger joined Boyd Commercial, LLC in 2007. Robert comes to us from Marcus & Millichap where he focused on the dispositions and acquisitions of office, industrial, and medical properties. Robert is a specialist in industrial real estate and has a keen knowledge of manufacturing, distribution, and office warehouse properties.

Since joining Boyd Commercial, Robert has focused on tenant and buyer representation, property disposition, project leasing, investment sales, site acquisition and disposition, and build-to-suit analysis. Some of his clients include Clay Development & Construction, Energy Steel Products, Parkway investments, The Salvation Army, and Tyson Foods, Inc.

In 2009 Robert achieved the designation of LEED Accredited Professional (LEED AP). He was also awarded the Certified Commercial Investment Member (CCIM) designation in 2010. He is currently an SIOR candidate and anticipates being eligible for active SIOR membership by the end of 2013. Robert is also a member of the Houston Association of Realtors, and serves on the Breeders Greeters Committee and Lamb and Goat Auction Committee of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. Robert volunteers his time at the Houston Food Bank and has assisted in building homes for Habitat for Humanity.

Robert graduated from the University of Houston with a Bachelors of Science in Construction Management Technology. Robert is a member of the University of Houston Alumni Association and the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity Alumni Association. Since graduating Robert has worked as a project engineer in the commercial construction industry and has since transitioned to commercial real estate brokerage.
